

I intended to build a fairytale-like world, so I create a foggy world that full of flowers and glowworms. I want to connect the sea and the sky and blur the boundary. I tried to search some fish and make it fly. However, the library resource is limited. I can only put some birds, which somehow a little bit upset. I change the light source behind the mountain, which helps me to create a night when you walk on the bridge.